USER'S GUIDE

Audio Bug: Open the battery compartment and install 2 "AAA" batteries. The Audio Bug connects directly to your iPod/iPhones 3.5mm headphone jack. Volume is controlled using your audio player.

Car Charger: Plug the Car Charger into your car's power outlet. Connect your original iPod/iPhone charge/sync cable to your iPod/iPhone and plug the USB end into the Car Charger. Charging will begin automatically.

AC Adapter: Plug the AC Adapter into your wall power outlet. Connect your original iPod/iPhone charge/sync cable to your iPod/iPhone and plug the USB end into the AC Adapter. Charging will begin automatically.

FM Transmitter: Open the battery compartment and install 2 "AAA" batteries. The FM Transmitter requires a FM radio to function. Connect the 3.5mm audio cable from the FM Transmitter to your iPod/iPhone/MP3 player's headphone jack. Choose and select the FM radio station on the FM Transmitter. Set your FM radio to the same station as the FM Transmitter. Your audio will now be transmitted wirelessly to your FM radio. If you experience poor reception, change the FM radio station on both the FM Transmitter and FM radio to different matching stations until you find a clear signal.

Earbud: Connect the Earbuds to any portable audio player with a standard 3.5mm headphone output.

Screen Guards: Choose the Screen Guard that matches your iPod, carefully peel the backing off the Screen Guard and place it over your display.

Audio Splitter: Connect the Audio Splitter to any portable audio player with a standard 3.5mm headphone output.

Audio Cable: The Audio Cable is used to connect any iPod/iPhone or audio player with a standard 3.5mm headphone output to any speaker system with a 3.5mm audio input. The audio cable can also be used in vehicles that feature a 3.5mm iPod/MP3 input.

Cleaning Cloth: The Cleaning Cloth is a great way to clean any portable audio devices display.
